

Hi!

In February, updates were released for Doctrin Analytics and bulk change of users in admin. We are now improving them, for example, by visually showing how the platform processes the change of multiple users at the same time. The updates are live from 14 March.

Have a great week,
The team at Doctrin

Simplified login for users working with multiple units

Previously, a unique link were required to log in and work with a unit. To simplify the log in process for users working with multiple units, all units linked to a user account are now shown on the login page.

A user only needs to remember one link and can then select a unit to work with. The most recently active units are shown at the top of the list.

Admin: bulk change of users now shows visual status

Last month, a feature to bulk edit users was released. These types of changes often take longer for the platform to process. That is why the platform now shows what is happening visually.

Changes that have been processed are highlighted in green and any changes that can not be made are highlighted in red. The platform shows what might have gone wrong and asks how you want to proceed. For example, if a user has ongoing cases, some changes can not be made - you solve this by first closing the user's cases.

As a User Manager, you can be confident in managing multiple users at the same time and monitor how the platform processes changes.

Medical questionnaires

New questionnaires are added to the platform on an ongoing basis. When they are available, they can be activated in Doctrin Admin. It is also possible to see which patients (age/gender) the form is aimed for.

Change in the form asking for suicidal tendencies

We have received feedback that it can be difficult to quickly find information about suicidal thoughts, plans and attempts in the report. To facilitate this, questions about suicidal tendencies have been moved to a heading at the top of the report for forms that ask about suicidal tendencies. In total, 43 forms are affected by the change.
