News

Doctrin Analytics: new password management for increased security

In the coming weeks we introduce a requirement for users to update their password if they have been inactive for more than 3 months. This is to increase the security level in Doctrin Analytics. If there is reason to believe that an unauthorised person has had access to a user's account, Doctrin will disable this account's password. Users can choose a new password on their own, on Analytics login page.

This change is made to ensure that no unauthorised person has access to the data. If you have any questions, contact Doctrin Support (support@doctrin.se).

Improvements

Doctrin Analytics: a new version and a new look

Analytics has been updated to a new version and therefore looks visually different. The update is part of several to accommodate the management and display of data in a safer and faster way.

Doctrin Analytics: planned changes

We will shortly update names, descriptions and colours of all standard dashboards. Some new data will be added. For example, units that use "Information sendouts" will be able to see data on how the feature is used.

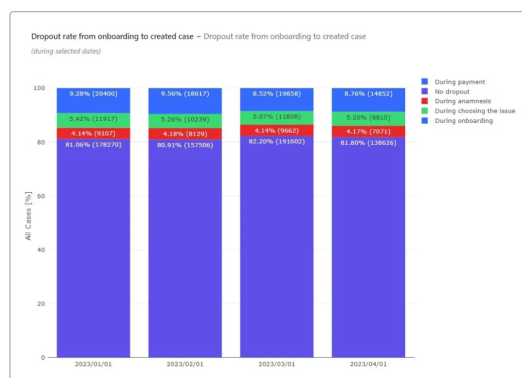

The goal of the dashboards and widgets* available in Analytics is to be as clear as possible and to answer the questions about an unit's data. Names and descriptions of widgets will be updated regularly.

In some dashboards, we have noticed that similar widgets may have been calculated in different ways. For example, depending on whether ongoing cases are included or not. In cases where some figures differ from one day to another, it is because differences have been corrected. The differences are minimal, e.g. 114 instead of 110.

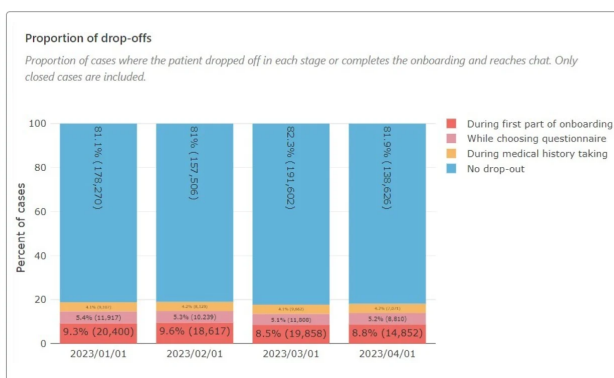

We hope these updates will help you work in a more data-driven way. Contact Doctrin Support (support@doctrin.se) if you have any questions or feedback.
